Speech by Henderson President

America thinks of her school-days as divided into four kinds, the primary grades, the grammar grades, high school and college — four years each. But President Joseph A. Day of Henderson State Teachers college, Arkadelphia, told Hope Rotary club Friday noon that a movement originating in California and spreading across the nation may break this up into only three divisions, and for a total of 13 years instead of 16. Because his speech struck this writer as a significant commentary on a changing civilization, I am reporting it as a news item in today's editorial column. "Many educators think this new

Postage Stamp Is 100 Years Old; 1st One Used in 1840

"Penny Black," No. 1 Stamp, Issued by England

REDUCED CHARGES

Prior to Stamp, Mail Price Depended on Public Debt

By NEA Service

Stamps are 100 years old. Hardly a man is now alive who remembers when they were first postage.

The British issued the first stamp, the "Penny Black," on May 6, 1840. In a way Napoleon was responsible.

Twenty-five years earlier the British were fighting him. It was a costly affair; the government hiked the postage rates to pay part of it. When the war ended the hike kept right on.

It was still on in 1840 when one Rowland Hill decided to do something about it. Hill got Parliament to listen, succeeded in introducing the postage stamp. Thereafter people paid for their letters according to weight—not distance and the size of the war debt.

From Britain the stamp idea leaped around the world. Today the world leaps to keep up with the stamps.

Take the U. S. seven years behind the British with the first official postage stamps. Today, thanks to the collecting hobby and just presses, Joe Donkies is about seven stamps behind Jim Farley.

The first official U. S. stamps were issued at New York on July 1, 1847. There were two values, a 5-cent Franklin (he was the colonies' first post-master general) and a 10-cent George Washington.

They were for POSTAGE only. But today one out of every 13 collects stamps.

Tons of stamps are handled by the 10,000 U. S. dealers every year; keep-

Army Battalion Is to Camp Overnight in Hope May 29

6th Engineer Battalion, U. S. Army to Camp Here

HERE WEDNESDAY TO PUSH AVIATION

Returning to Fort Riley From Recent Maneuvers

The 6th Engineer Battalion, U. S. Army moving by motor convoy from the III Army maneuver area to its home station, Fort Riley, Kansas, will make an over-night stop in the vicinity of Hope, Arkansas on or about Wednesday, May 29, 1940. The Battalion has a strength of 275 men and the convoy will consist of approximately 90 vehicles.

An advance party of two vehicles and five men with 2nd Lieut. Leo V. Harman, 6th Eng. Bn. in charge will arrive in Hope, Arkansas on or about May 27, 1940 to select a camp site and make arrangements for the purchase of food stuffs and gasoline for the convoy. Due to a very limited fund for rental of camp sites, free use of city parks, National Guard Armories, etc. has been requested.

The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce has assured Lieut. Wm. C. Holley, Adjutant, that the citizens of Hope will be delighted to entertain the visiting soldiers and will provide the necessary accommodations.

Theft of Graduation Gifts Causes Arrest

MAGNOLIA, Ark.—A negro, attempting to peddle graduation gifts stolen from the home of a Spring Hill, La., high school, girl, was arrested Thursday at Bussey by Magnolia officers.

The arrest was made before the negro had sold many of the attractive gifts, all of which were rounded up and returned to the owner. Unsuspecting buyers were refunded.

Valued at $40, the gifts were stolen from the girl's home while she attended school exercises.

A resident of Bussey called officers and the negro was taken. He was turned to Deputy Sheriff Elijah Newberry of Minden, La.

All 48 Governors to Pledge Aid to National Defense

Conference of States at Duluth, Minn., June 2

TO TRAIN 50,000 Pilots in Year From July 1

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt said Friday the governors of 48 states would meet in Duluth, Minn., about June 2 and that he understood their intention was to support and pledge cooperation to the defense program.

The chief executive also announced the virtually complete preparation of the pilot-training phase of the billion-dollar defense program.

In 12 months, beginning July 1, he reported, basic training flying will be given 50,000 men, thousands of whom then eventually will get more advanced pilot instruction until they become equipped to serve in the army, navy and marine air corps.

War Area About Size of Arkansas

AP Compares European Distances to Local Map

By the Associated Press

Arkansas citizens trying to follow the European war news with the aid of home maps probably could get a better idea of how the fighting is raging by applying the operations scale to their own state.

By imagining Little Rock to be Paris and working out the scale of maps of the United States, northern France and Belgium, the following imaginary picture can be developed:

Montmedy, the easternmost point in France of the German invasion, would be about 30 miles east of Memphis and slightly northeast of that Tennessee city.

Brussels, the Belgian capital now in German hands, would be located in the vicinity of Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Calais, the important French port across the English channel from Dover toward which the German armies appear to be driving, would be located somewhere in the neighborhood of Eureka Springs, Ark.

Amiens, the southern tip of the dagger the Nazis have driven through northern France would be located almost due north of Little Rock in Van Buren county between Clinton and Heber Springs.

Soissons, the important French city now at the bottom of the bulge, would be about where Searcy is.

Thus, the line of the German invasion would be roughly outlined along the southern flank by a line running from Memphis westward through Wynne, Augusta and Bald Knob to Searcy. This line then would swing back into Independence county a short distance before again running west through Heber Springs to the "Amiens" section north of Clinton.

From Clinton, the line would curve in an ill-defined arc toward the Arkansas-Missouri border at Eureka Springs, passing through Jasper and Huntsville.

Cambrai, the point at which the Allied army appears to be trying to fight out of a German "pocket," would be about where Melbourne, Ark., is in relation to Little Rock.

Le Havre, one of France's largest Channel ports and presumably an ultimate goal of Hitler's legions, would be a few miles east of Fort Smith; roughly in the vicinity of Paris, Ark.

State Cotton is Sold for $55,000

PINE FLUFF—Arkansas State penitentiary sold 1,000 bales of cotton here Thursday at prices ranging from 138 points to 198 points on the market, a total of approximately $55,000.

The cotton was sold in four lots, with State Purchasing Agent W. Porter Grace as auctioneer. Lot No. 1, consisting of 200 bales, and Lot No. 2, consisting of 300 bales, were bought by A. E. Bell of Anderson Clayton company on bids of 10.95 and 11.15, respectively. Burford & Kennedy bought Lots Nos. 3 and 4, consisting of 250 bales each, on bids of 10.65 and 10.55, respectively.

This was the final sale of 1939 penitentiary cotton.

War Map, as Brought Up to Date on Wednesday

The heavy broken line in this war map shows the main German advances; Nazi motorized detachments are located by the light line. The white spaces, such as the one around Cambrai, indicate areas within the German occupied territory which are still held by the Allied forces.

Local Libraries Combined Friday

First Branch Project Will Be Opened Monday

Hope and Hempstead county libraries will be combined Friday afternoon making approximately 5,000 books available to the public.

The library committee will hold openhouse Friday night, and books on philosophy, religion, science, useful arts, fine arts, landscaping, music, literature, history, biographies, poetry and fiction will be on display and will be explained to the public.

The first branch library is to be opened at Washington Monday, with Mrs. Joe Jackson as librarian. This project is located in the former circuit clerk's office at the old court-house. Fixtures were furnished by people of Washington and about 400 books will be installed from the Hope-Hempstead county library.

Set the Stage at Channel Port for English Invasion

German Spearhead Only 20 Air Minutes From London

BOULOGNE TAKEN

Allies' Artillery Puts "Pincers" on Germans

BERLIN —(AP)— Germany's legions in rolling armor crashed through the Scheldt river, fortifications Friday into Tournai and Ghent, Belgium, and have approached the "gates of Calais," vital Channel port on the French side, authoritative sources declared.

Ensigning the French town of St. Omer in their path, fast-moving German armored cars were said to have approached Calais Friday afternoon. Calais is 22 miles from Dover, England.

The Calais drive gave shape to the German aim of setting the stage for an attack on England.

The German high command declared heavy attack forces against Scheldt had enabled them to reach the western embankment of the Lys river, indicating the Lys also had been crossed.

Nazis Take Boulogne

LONDON —(AP)— Boulogne, France's strategic seaport, 20 minutes by air from London, has fallen to the German spearhead on the English Channel, authoritative sources acknowledged Friday.

"The Germans took possession of Boulogne Thursday night," they said. (At the time of this admission the Germans had not even claimed Boulogne—saying their channel vanguard had passed the city and was heading for Calais, to the northeast.)

Friday came word of the German seizure of the "beautiful port city" whose population in peace-time numbered more than 30,000.

A spokesman said virtually all the British troops in Boulogne "got away." He indicated the Germans were able to seize the town because of their stronger forces.

An Allied "Pincers"

PARIS —(AP)— The Allied armies caught the German armored columns in an artillery cross-fire Friday in a new effort to cut the Reich army's corridor to the sea, and turn the tide of battle for mastery of the English Channel.

Masses of Allied infantry also weighed down on the German salient, pressing south from Flanders Fields in the Cambrai region, and north from the Somme river in a pincers movement designed to break off the spearhead which twisted west to the Channel coast.

This turn in the campaign brought into full play for the first time two branches of service in which the Allies claim superiority.

(A broadcast heard in New York from an NBC correspondent in Paris, said 5,000 German troops in mechanized units were reported "isolated" in Amiens, and that other Nazi mechanized forces were "stalled" from lack of fuel.)

Jury Finds Burks Guilty of Murder

Rice Field Slayer Will be Sentenced Saturday

LAKE CHARLES, La. —(AP)— Horace Finnon Burks, 23-year-old army deserter, late Thursday was found guilty of murdering J. C. Calloway in a rice field here last St. Valentine's Day. The sentence, death by hanging, will be pronounced Saturday.

The jury deliberated one hour. Another jury two months ago returned a similar verdict against Mrs. Tony Joe Henry, jointly charged with Burks in shooting to death the Houston, Texas salesman for his automobile.

The woman, now under sentence to hang, has appealed to the supreme court.

Burks, denying he killed Calloway, whose nude body with a bullet through the head was found after he had given the pair a ride, blamed the crime on his companion.

After Calloway had been stripped, Burks testified, Mrs. Henry ordered him to "roll up those damned clothes," and then, he said, she shot the salesman.

DANGER

YESTERDAY: Monnie tells Larry about the accident; how she was having a bad day, almost crashed into the car on Dead Man's Curve. Saw the car over the cliff and burn, heard the shot. Bentley arrived, tried to pull the dead man from the wreck. Bentley had seen the car speeding toward the hill, followed. The coroner found evidence that the victim had been drinking. Larry says.

CHAPTER VIII

MONNIE was silent, wanting to believe Larry, but unable to comprehend how he could be so sure that Hugh had not been drinking. Larry went on:
"Hugh never drank, and he wasn't drunk that night, regardless of what the coroner said he found." He was certain of that. "My uncle was a drunkard, and Dad never got over it. When Hugh and I were youngsters, Dad explained that we might have a taste for liquor and he hated it so that both Hugh and I promised never to drink. We might have forgotten that promise made as boys, but Dad was killed the next day. Hugh would never have broken his word to Dad."
"If it weren't for this drinking angle, I'd think Hugh deliberately drove off the cliff to avoid running into you— But if he'd been drunk, he wouldn't have done that. Someone knows more about that whiskey bottle in Hugh's car—and I'm going to find out who it is, and where that bottle came from."

"But—you don't blame me for what I did," Monnie ventured, "and for not telling the whole truth at the inquest."
His arms were around her, pulling her close to him. She did not resist.
"I couldn't blame you for anything you've done, Monnie," Larry reassured her. "You didn't kill Hugh. Either he killed himself, or— But you had no part in it. I know that."

His lips brushed her soft, black hair. She looked up at him. "I wanted you to say that, Larry. You have to believe me." He bent to kiss her lips. . . . jerked back abruptly, jumped to his feet. Surprised, half-angry, her eyes demanded an explanation.

"I've still got a job to do, find out about Hugh," he said shortly. "I've no right to even think about you until that's finished. Please understand." He turned, walked quickly from the porch without waiting for her to answer. Halfway to the bunkhouse he heard her call: "Larry!"

He hurried on.

COVENANTS IN SOME FORM HAVE A FUNDAMENTAL PLACE IN HUMAN LIFE

If this lesson concerning the New Covenant were merely an incident in the ancient life of the Jewish people, it might be interesting to study, but it would have no prime importance and significance for men today. It is, however, the fact that so much in the religious history of ancient Israel was universal in its reference and appeal that makes the Old Testament a living book and that gives such significance, particularly to a lesson like this.

Figures Show Taft Cinching Delegates; Bootleggers on Run

WASHINGTON — One reason for the quiet air of renewed confidence pervading the Taft camp these days is a tabulation of delegate strength just made by a prominent New York lawyer—who, by the way, is not attached to the Taft bandwagon.

This man gathered his own information, state by state, and worked out three sets of figures for the coming convention. These are:

Certain votes on the first ballot: Taft 227; Dewey, 206.

Probable strength after the favorite son delegations split up: Taft, 431; Dewey, 283.

This gentleman figures that approximately 200 delegates at Philadelphia will be seriously looking for a dark horse.

He made his survey without the knowledge of Taft headquarters, and the Taft people aren't claiming his figure is necessarily right. But his figures certainly aren't discouraging them.

Uncle Sam Still Chasing Bootleggers

Six years after prohibition ended, the Internal Revenue Bureau is still making war on boot-leggers, illicit distillers, and rum runners.

Trouble isn't entirely confined to the mountain states, either, traditional home of moonshiners. The two biggest booze conspiracy cases since prohibition broke recently in New York and Oklahoma.

In Oklahoma, 169 men were indicted for conspiring to take liquor into the dry states of Oklahoma and Kansas—a federal offense under the liquor law enforcement act of 1936.

In New York, 122 men were indicted on charges of distributing 400,000 gallons of alcohol about New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania over a 10-month period, dodging $1,600,000 in taxes, thereby.

Extent of the "revenooers' job is shown, roughly, by the figures. In 1939 they seized 11,425 stills and 7,559,000 gallons of mash, and fines totaling $2,224,032 were imposed on liquor law violators in federal court.

Situation apparently is improving; 1939 seizures of stills were 5 per cent under the 1938 seizures, 7 per cent under those for 1937, and 31 per cent under the 1935 figures.

Biggest number of cases originate in the southern mountain states, as in the long-ago days. There's one difference, though: moonshiners don't shoot the "revenooers" so often nowadays. They've learned it doesn't pay.

The law requiring all agents of foreign powers to register publicly at the State Department is working fine, if it was meant to check the spread of foreign propaganda.

Churchill Plans to 'Break the Nazi Hearts'

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — If the rest of the country in the Washington, no man knows under more critical misfortune than Winston Churchill, who, as Prime Minister of Great Britain, has, for the first time in nearly four decades of public prominence, got the reins of the empire completely in his hands.

Scouring around the capital, I have found a few persons who know him intimately or well and have collected a shodge-podge that may serve for an introduction to the man who will guide the destinies of the Allies against the Nazi war machine which, rolling with tremendous success over Europe's little nations.

The 66-year-old Prime Minister, whose trademark is a long, black cigar, is fat, elderly, stodgy. But his looks are deceiving. He is temperamental, meteoric and combines recklessness with traditional English tenacity. Lord Asquith, under whom

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND SENATE OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS AND MAJORITY OF BOTH HOUSES AGREEING THERETO:

That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and the same being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Senators and Representatives, if a majority of the electors voting thereon adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

Section 1. Amendment No. 29 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas is hereby repealed.

Section 2. Vacancies in the office of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and in all elective state, district, circuit, county and township offices except those of Lieutenant Governor, Member of the General Assembly and Representative in the Congress of the United States, shall be filled by appointment by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Acting Governor shall be ineligible for appointment to fill any vacancies occurring or any office or position created, and resignation shall not remove such ineligibility. Husbands and wives of such officers, shall likewise be ineligible.

Section 4. No person holding office contrary to this amendment shall be paid any compensation for his services. Any warrant, voucher, or evidence for such services shall be void.

Section 5. The appointee shall serve during the entire unexpired term in the office in which the vacancy occurs if such office would in regular course be filled at the next general election; if no vacancy occurs at the next general election, the vacancy shall be filled at the next general election; if the vacancy occurs four months or more prior to the next general election, the vacancy shall be filled at the next general election after it occurs. The person so elected shall take office on the 1st day of January following his election.

C. G. Hall, Secretary of State.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 32

Proposed by the General Assembly and filed in the office of the Secretary of State on 9th day of March, 1939.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS, AND BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS, A MAJORITY OF ALL MEMBERS AGREEING THERETO, THAT THE FOLLOWING BE AND THE SAME IS HEREBY PROPOSED AS AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS:

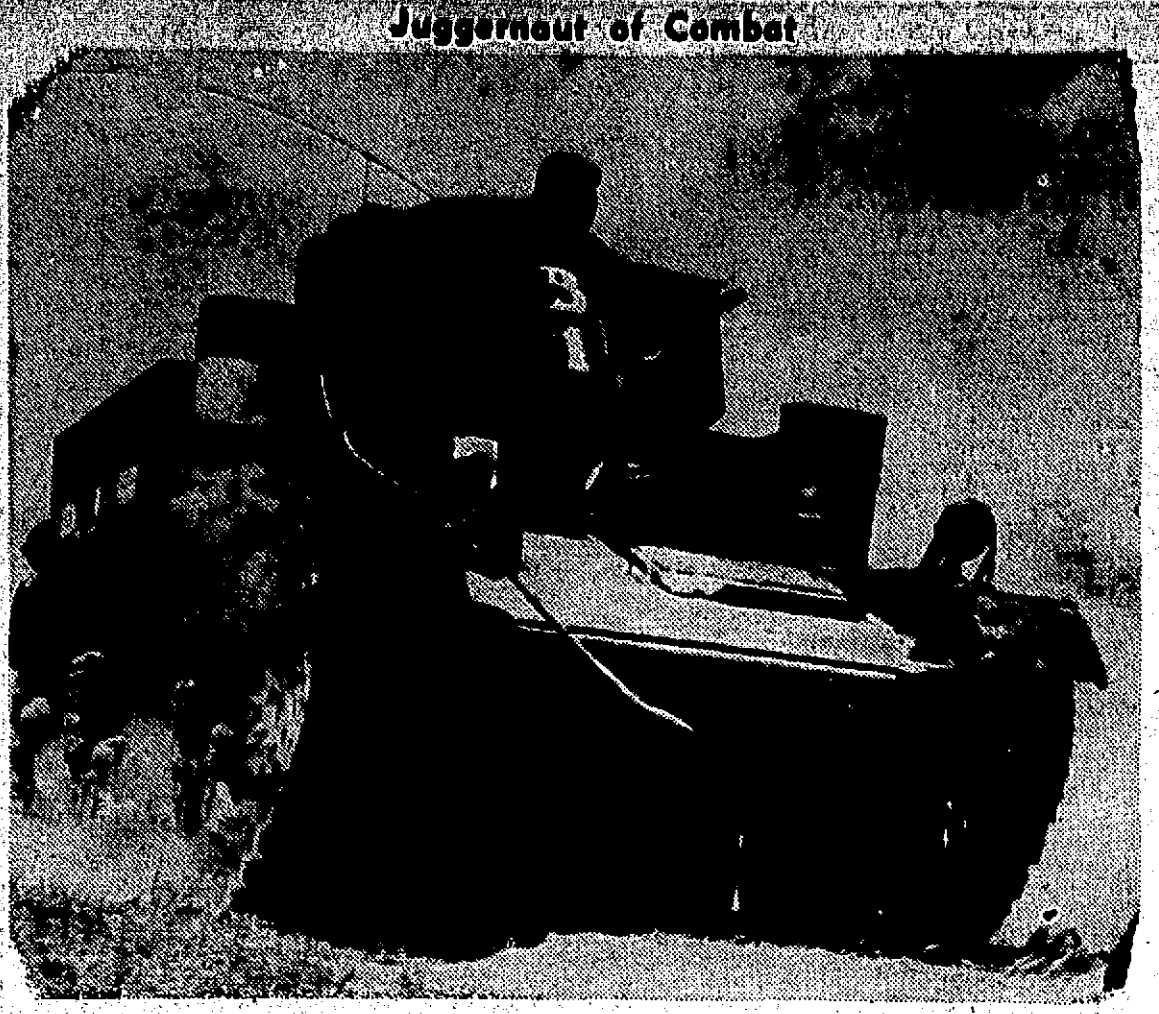

Section 1. The personal property of any resident of this State who is not married or the head of a family, in specific articles to be selected by such resident not exceeding in value the sum of Fifty Dollars in addition to his or her wearing apparel, shall be exempt from any and all State, County, Municipal and every other political subdivision ad valorem tax; provided, that the owner or his agent, or in the event of the failure of either to do so, the assessing or collecting officer, may select such property as herein provided to be exempt from State, County, Municipal and every other political subdivision ad valorem tax.

Section 2. The personal property of any resident of this State who is married or the head of a family in specific articles to be selected by such resident, not exceeding in value the sum of One Hundred Dollars in addition to his or her wearing apparel, and that of his or her family, shall be exempt from any and all State, County, Municipal and every other political subdivision ad valorem tax; provided, that the owner or his agent, or in the event of the failure of either to do so, the assessing or collecting officer, may select such property as herein provided to be exempt from State, County, Municipal and every other political subdivision ad valorem tax.

Section 3. The Arkansas Corporation Commission or its successor shall have power and authority and it shall be its duty, to prescribe the manner of exempting said property if any such method be needed.

Section 4. This amendment shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas when approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election, and when so declared to be adopted by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

he served in one of his nine cabinet posts, said: "Winston has genius, but not judgement." You couldn't convince the English people of that.

He's Half American

It's typical of Churchill that when Sir Neville Chamberlain was attacked for withdrawal of the troops from Norway, Churchill came to his defense and temporarily, at least, prevented the political rout of his superior.

Yet Churchill, in the first World war, was the man who shouted that if the Scandinavian countries could be brought in on the side of the Allies, the war would be over in less than 15 months.

As far as I can find out, without reading a history of the British Empire he's the first Prime Minister who is half American. His mother was Jenny Jerome, of New York.

The men who have influenced his life and for whom he has had much generation include his father, Lord Randolph Churchill, Lord Hugh Cecil, a died-in-the-wool Tory; Lloyd George; Sir Francis Mowatt, a conservative of the strict Victorian school; and Bourke Cockran, a Tammany Tiger of New York's roaring Nineties.

Churchill once was an honored guest of Kaiser Wilhelm II, but he has become the symbol for everything in the British people the Germans hate and fear. There's no love lost on his side. From the first, he has been one of Hitler's severest critics.

When he talks about the Nazis, he's at his snarliest. Frequently he ends his tirades with: "In the end, we'll break their hearts."

He Just Missed

Unlike many statesmen, Churchill has been under front-line fire, in the middle years of the World war, he left the government to become a major in the trenches—once left a dug-out after two hours of letter-writing.

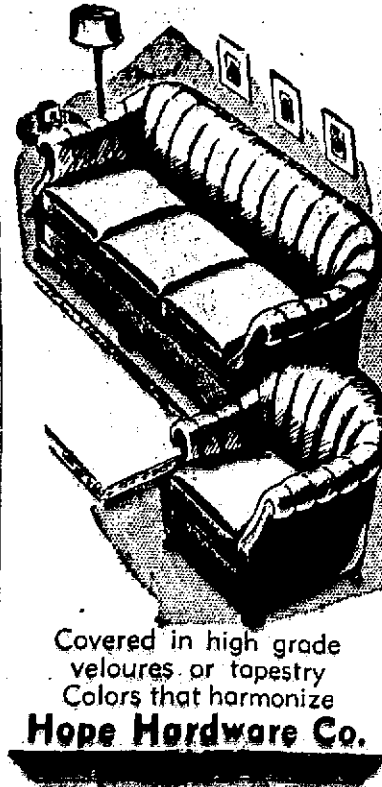

For the first 10 years after Great Britain's armed forces took up air-planes, he was chief of one branch or another of aviation. When he was first chief of the Royal Naval Air Force, they had five planes, five pilots. For some years, he piloted a plane himself, but gave it up after several crashes.

He's a violent enemy of red tape. He refuses to abide by the petty regulations of minor officials. He works from 9:30 a. m. to 1 or 2 a. m., often reminds associates that work and pleasure are the same thing. Nevertheless, he has a hobby; it's the same as that of Gen. Gustave Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies. . . . painting church-hill also is an amateur bricklayer. . . . he has been a journalist, war correspondent and novelist.

He's an avid collector of cartoons in which he appears and chuckles over all of them (a little hobby out of all them).

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON

U.S.C. Likely to Lose Track Crown

Stanford is Given an Outside Chance to Win

By JERRY BRONFIELD
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Maybe this is the open season on champions. It's a little early to tell. But if you were startled by the Yankees floundering around at the bottom of the American League, wait'll we tell you that the Southern California track and field dynasty also is tottering in the throne room.

Although the U. S. C. defeated Stanford in a dual meet a short while ago, the Indians are the best bet to relieve the Trojans of their National Collegiate title since—well, since Troy first started making it a one-team show. Which is more years ago than most folks can remember.

The all-around strength of U. S. C. makes Dean Cromwell's lads the greatest dual meet team in the country and it was this balance — a preponderance of second and third places — which beat the Cards at Los Angeles.

Indians Easily Can Take Four Firsts

But the Nationals at Minneapolis in June stacks up like this: Stanford brilliance in individual events, plus the almost certain victories of stars from other schools, equals the full of Troy.

Where Southern Cal gained four first places in the big show a year ago it'll be lucky to grab two this trip. Stanford, however, is in position to grab four and possibly five firsts. The Indians took nine out of 14 events from the Trojans.

Clyde Jeffrey, current "fastest human," can be tabbed for victories in the 100 and 220, where he can post times of 9.4 and 20.6. Jeff also anchors the 3:10.5 world record-holding mile relay team, which includes Charley Shaw, Ernie Clark and Craig Williamson. There isn't a quartet in sight that figures to even crowd them at the tape.

Paul Moore astounded everyone by turning in a 4:11.5 mile against U. S. C. and he'll stand a lot of beating at Minneapolis.

There aren't many weight men hanging around who'll heave the discus further than the 155 feet big Stan Andersen can do. The hefty tackle can also put the shot a few inches beyond 55 feet, which should establish him as nothing worse than second choice in the Nationals. There's just no beating Georgetown's Al Blozis, who some day will toss the ball out of sight.

Bob Stone can do close to 220 feet in the javelin, which should be another second or third for more valuable points.

Ray Brown should score in the broad jump with 24 feet. Shaw should be up there in the 440. Russ Wulff's 6-6 in the high jump should mean something, and Mush Gerard may come through for a point or two in the two-mile. Best thing about Stanford's chances is that the Indians won't suffer much in events where stars from other schools sneak in. The greatest harm will be done to U. S. C.

For instance, Don Boydson of Oklahoma A. & M. is good enough to beat out Troy's Johnny Wilson in the high jump. Ed Burrows of Princeton easily should take Southern Cal's Art Reading in the 880, and Ken Dills, Trojan pole vaulter, will have plenty of trouble with Beaufry Bryan of Texas and Fred Wolcott of Rice is more than a match for the U. S. C. hurdle brigade.

Those were the events in which the Trojans showed most of their superiority over Stanford. So you can see how everything adds up for Troy's downfall.

Walter Johnson Runs for Congress

Famous Baseball Pitcher Likely to Be Elected

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — There's a 50-50 chance that the next congress will have among its representatives the only man who for 20 years successfully competed with the Washington Monument as a capital drawing card.

Walter Perry Johnson, the "Big Train" of baseball and the greatest pitcher the big leagues ever turned out, is the Republican nominee in the sixth Maryland district. Political wisecracks say he has an even chance of tossing a third strike on the Democratic incumbent, William D. Byron.

Over and over, I've heard the story since his nomination from men who came here as youngsters during the two decades that followed 1907: "When Walter Johnson was pitching, you couldn't get a kid to go near the Washington Monument or the White House."

"There wasn't a boy who came to town in those days who wouldn't rather have had one brief 'Hi, son' from Walter than to have shaken hands with President 'Teddy' Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge all at once."

Rookies Are Bench

If the big, slow-talking Maryland farmer does come to congress next January he'll still be a drawing card, but it'll be on past performance. Rookies in the congressional league scarcely ever get a chance to pitch.

Take a dynamic fellow like Bruce Barton, for example. Before he ran for representative from New York, he already had had his finger in national affairs and big business. He had written books, made speeches. He told folks he was coming down to Washington and repeat a bill a day.

Now I haven't checked up lately, but I don't think Mr. Barton has repealed a bill at all. Rookies in the House just don't do that sort of thing. If they are smart, they spend a couple of years bench-warming. If they go trying to lambast a homerun every time somebody lets them hold a bat, they're likely to find themselves back in the bush leagues.

So if Walter Johnson does come down here in January and you want to drop in and see the man who for 20 years outdrew the Washington Monument at the tourist turnstile, come ahead. But don't expect him to be throwing any legislative speedballs. Not even the killer-diller politicians do that in their first two years and Walter is no killer-diller.

A 50-Cent Campaign

He did get himself elected commissioner of Montgomery county, where his 550-acre farm is located, and he did get the nomination to congress, but he didn't use much politics.

Columbus Club

The ladies of the Columbus Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Tommy McCordle for their fifth month meeting, May 13th.

The house was called to order by our president, Mrs. C. R. White. Song by the group titled "Old Black Joe." The devotional was led by Mrs. Forney Holt, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

After the business session, our president read and discussed a letter from our agent regarding the making of cotton mattresses in our community at an early date.

Our chairman on food preparation and preservation, Mrs. Horace Ellen, gave an interesting and helpful talk on home canning and pickling.

The poem "The House by the Side of the Road" was read by Mrs. L. K. Boyce.

The roll was called by Mrs. Fred Caldwell, each member answering by the number of hens culled this spring.

We then discussed the possibility of going to the county council meeting.

The president urged all to make some garment to enter in the dress revue in June which is to be held at Sweet Home Church east of Washington.

The recreational hour was spent in contests of historic and Biblical nature which led the participants to realize their dullness and inability at such things but which created a good laugh.

Our hostess then invited all of us to the dining room where we were served iced lemon-ade and delicious cookies. After assuring our hostess of a wonderful afternoon, we departed to meet in June with Mrs. David Mitchell where we will have a clothing revue for adult and childrens clothing.

for campaign cards, and his second couldn't have cost him much more. He doesn't like to make speeches. He's so modest that it's impossible for him to tell the crowd what a swell representative he would make. He couldn't ever remind you that he used to be a pretty good pitcher without blushing.

He is Republican and anti-New Deal, all right, but he can't get very mad about it. His political philosophy consists of something about "a return to the American way of life," which apparently means to Walter the right of every man to plant his own potatoes, hoe his own crop, and sell them for the best price he can get, without anybody buttin in. He doesn't like government spending on a big scale either. That's about all, except he's so honest, he would argue with an umpire who miscalled a decision in his favor.

In some respects, Walter might be almost as unique in congress as he was on the mound. If he does get in, he'll be interesting to watch, once his rookie days are over.

Edna Philpot, 24, Dallas "carotte", prettiest of a group of girl servers who took part in a Dallas review. Controversy over scanty costumes of carottes died down when food stand owners dressed their curb representatives more fully.

NEW YORK — Bowing to the rank outsider, Corydon, and being hard-pressed to beat the sprinting Roman for the place, Bimelech made it obvious in the Withers Mile that he cannot be at his best unless he is on a track that completely suits him. The Belmont Park strip was dead under the surface.

It is not believed that sickness of Kayak I will have any detrimental effect on his racing, although a coughing spell such as the South American crack suffered at Pimlico has left many a good horse "touched in the wind." Kayak II is returning to California.

Jimmy Murray has resigned as matchmaker of Los Angeles Olympic Auditorium effective following his June 11 show. . . . It is feared the arena, biggest in southern California, will remain dark to boxing.

Walter Hagen will play Walter Hagen, Jr., captain of the Notre Dame golf team, over the University's William J. Burke course, June 1, when The Haig visits South Bend to attend his son's graduation.

In less than two seasons of professional baseball, Ken Sears has batted at a .350 clip, hit more than 50 home runs and driven in 200 runs in
